ALL EVENTS ARE FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Freedom of Information Day Tuesday, March 19, 2019

Panel Discussion:

Privacy vs. Public Good – How Open Should Government Be?

6:00 p.m. – 7:30 p.m. ●

- Should police officers accused of misconduct have their personnel files opened to the public?
- Should the president be able to shield disclosure of records by claiming “executive privilege”?
 - What about records of investigations against major government officials?

A distinguished panel addresses these questions and more in a discussion of state and federal open government laws.

Presented by: L.A. County Inspector General Max Huntsman, Prof. Aaron Caplan, Loyola Law School • Dan Laidman, and Kelly Aviles
